children. After being partly held for a long time, they finally let me go. I remember, as I sat, my legs in my lap, on hearing of my mother's death, I said, "I am not a child, I am a man." I was then 16 years old. I was with a good girl, a girl from the same village, and we were married. I was a very good husband. I had a very good wife. I was a very good father. I was a very good son. I was a very good brother. I was a very good friend. I was a very good neighbor. I was a very good citizen. I was a very good man.
